OUR STORY

Grand Bahama Beekeeper's Cooperative was the result of a government project introducing beekeeping as a new potential industry to The Bahamas. Throughout the program, we gained experience through seasoned beekeepers from abroad, agro-eco-tourism specialists and practicing in the field.

This common bond and vision between the members of the program led us to consult the Department of Cooperatives, who assisted in establishing the GBBC as an official Cooperative Society.

Today, the GBBC strives to:

- 1. Educate Grand Bahamians on the local and global significance of bees and their role in nature
- 2. Produce, Market, and Distribute Apiculture Products that compete with the international industry.
- 3. Establish apiculture as a profitable industry throughout The Bahamas
