
African Youth Initiative Network
AYINET Peace Academy

The Vision:

Africa, a Continent at Peace

Phases

Step 1

A Peace Academy

Step 2

Peace Education

Step 3

A Peace Movement

Scope of Work

- Strategic Plan → Strategic Considerations
- Detailed and holistic components to consider when project implementation begins
- Programming, Implementation/Monitoring & Evaluation, Partnerships, Media & Marketing

A man in a dark t-shirt with 'AFRICAN YOUTH INITIATIVE NETWORK (AYIN)' on the sleeve is speaking into a blue microphone. He is addressing a large, diverse group of people sitting on the ground outdoors. The background shows trees and a bright sky.

Programming

Curriculum Development

Conceptualizing objectives and building a curriculum to achieve them

Field Experience

Developing infrastructure to place graduates in properly-fitted sites throughout Africa

Participants

Sustained interaction with graduates to promote long-term effectiveness

Gender, Diversity, & Accessibility

Working to address underrepresentation of marginalized groups

Implementation/Monitoring & Evaluation

01

Peace Academy Implementation

- Physical infrastructure prioritization and timelines
- Instructor identification and training
- Trainee identification and curriculum track selection

02

Monitoring and Data Collection

- Student training progress assessments and feedback
- Surveys, end of track interviews
- Dedicated data collection and monitoring of student progress (pre, current, and post training)

03

Key Performance Indicators / Program Evaluation

- Assess effectiveness of trainee selection - trainees who successfully complete training program
- Youth graduates who return to communities and start their own peace initiatives

Partnerships

Funding

Provide financial support to fulfill AYINET's budgetary needs

Advisory

Provide resources and advice to AYINET to facilitate the planning and implementation process

Coalition

Work alongside AYINET to support the implementation of trainings and movement building across Africa

Media & Marketing

Launch & Sustained Strategy

Tap into local narratives and social sources that resonate with the community

Social - Media Plan

Building the capacity and flexibility to broadcast the narrative to diverse audiences

AYINET's Media Center

Engage local, national, regional, and international journalists to promote the Peace Academy, highlight graduates' impact on their communities, and popularize a pan-African peace movement

Conclusion

With hope that one day, Africa will see new Mandelas and that Africa will have a model Peace-building mission as opposed to Peace-keeping
